

Abstract

The importance of this research comes from that Sudan has witnessed very importance economic stage , where there is development in all sectors ,as the result many firms and multi nationality bank invest in all sectors .Economic development turns to be reality ,this development needs economic openness towards the worlds , consequently doors of investment are opened , and the most important one is foreign banks . research problems represent in realizing the role of foreign banks to make economic development in the Sudan.

The hypotheses of the study include:

Do foreign banks achieve their role in developing agricultural sector ,the extent of foreign banks contribution at industrial development , do they take part in boosting service sector , foreign banks don't contribute efficiently and effectively in investment ,and do they take part in developing banking sectors.

The study comes out with these result:

First : service sector:

The role of bank is very clear in this sector through the study ,we notice that foreign banks helps effectively in developing server sectors and its various sectors representing in transport sector through Mrabha or Msharka....Etc(forms of bank funding)

Second : Industrial sector:

We notice from the results of the study that the contribution of the foreign banks at industrial sector were insufficient , most expenditure concentrates on importing row materials, the researcher reaches this conclusion through data base of Abuzabi National Bank, where the bank clarifies that it's financing for industrial sectors concentrates only on funding row materials. We also note that foreign bank don't contribute at providing technology and developing industry.

Third : agricultural sector :

The foreign banks don't have real contribution at importing and exporting agricultural productions , agricultural tools , fertilizers , and agricultural insects pesticides .

The study comes out with many recommendations the most importance one is :

Through the study and results of the research come these recommendations representing in rationalization foreign banks work this rationalization doesn't occur by orders or circulars , but by preparing good investment climate which enables banks to work safely and freely at sectors of priority for us , such as agricultural and industrial sector by offering enough facilities and guarantees for long term investments which are really have actual and effective contributions at economic development .
