

Abstract

The research is intended to reflection the Arab mentality which is represented by a great grammarian Abu khasim Alzujaji, it highlighted the efforts made by arab scientist, it reflected at Arabs concern with various arts, it tackles how the Arab scientist were keen to pursue the knowledge through attending their learning session and the benefit they could drive from these resources or learning sessions , this has made the Arab scientists compete among themselves which consequently lend them to write many books that have enriched the Arab libraries . As such this has competed the researcher to study this huge heritage and to preserve it . However .in chapter one

The researcher has tackled Abu Kasims ear , the place where he grow ud p which played an important role shaping his mentality , his senility has been studied , the students who have been influenced by him.

Chapter tow , has talked the grammatical topics which have been mentioned in Alzujaji learning sessions. These grammatical topics been dealt with fully . This chapter has introduced nominative nouns , subjects and predicates in addition to singular and plural in Arabic grammar.

Chapter three , has talked " Houroof Al Manni" such as "iz"and " izah" , it focuses on exclamation expression and whether they are comparative adverbs or not addition to preposition in Arabic grammar in terns of their meanings. However ,the differences have been shown between the Arab grammarians in Basra and Koufa towns and other grammatical items have also be dealt wih. In conclusion , this has come up with a number of results.