Introduction of the Translator

This part of the book of qualitative research aimed to show the libraries in dire need of this kind because of scarcity of such studies and researchers need to the fields of education research.

I have selected this part of the book because to qualitative researches and to make other people benefit from Arab world experience.

They were some difficulties which faced the translator. One of is that the writer uses high level of language and also the book contains scientific terminologies.

The translator attempted to translator the target meaning and depended on context, dictionary as well as consulting his supervisor difficult part of the text.
